

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and a round my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvellous as it may seem, but a few days had passed, before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

Kate Field's Suffrage Views.

Kate Field, in response to the question as to whether she thought, once the franchise obtained, women would use the ballot, said very vigorously:

"Well, I know I shall, and I feel sure all right minded women will do the same."

"As to the condition of Wyoming since the extension of suffrage, I say it is absolutely false that the new influence has been adverse to good. Aside from my own knowledge, I have the opinion of various state officials in favor of the new order of things."

"Then the further idea that the exercise of the right to vote has a tendency to unsex women is as untrue as the fallacy that her engagement in the professions and trades depreciates her womanhood."

"I consider such objections to equal suffrage as too absurd for answering. I have not talked much upon the subject until recently because I have not given attention to the question of unlimited suffrage."

"I never have believed and do not now believe in an unrestricted ballot."

—New York Herald.

A Vassar Girls' Debate.

The Vassar girls have made a happy hit in turning the tables upon those obscurantists who maintain that the higher education unfits women for matrimony.

For a recent debate the senior society of the college took up this debatable resolution, "That the Higher Education Unfits Man for Matrimony."

It appears that the opening speeches were lively, but that the debate had to be ended in a short time because of the laughter with which the speeches in the negative were saluted. As a matter of course, the resolution was decided in the affirmative against the remonstrance of one of the seniors, who argued that man should enjoy the best educational privileges even though they might unfit him for matrimony. We think it likely that the arguments for the affirmative side were not less reasonable, even if more sarcastic, than those which the obscurantists on the other side present against the higher education of woman.

There would be fun if the Vassar girls were to challenge the Harvard boys to debate the question with them. —New York Sun.

Show Your Colors!

The woman suffrage reform has chosen yellow as its color, as the W. C. T. U. has taken white, the W. R. C. the national colors, red, white and blue, and so on, ad infinitum, for who can number the constantly increasing women's organizations of today? All these leagues, clubs and unions display their colors when they meet in convention or for festive occasions. Buff and blue were conspicuous at the gathering of the Daughters of the Revolution April 19.

Everything was in heliotrope at a recent club reception which I attended, and at the late celebration of Neal Dow's ninetieth birthday in King's chapel every woman of the temperance unions was starred with white on the left shoulder, as were the men who were sympathizers. Why should not woman suffragists fall into line and wear their colors also? We have cultivated a "severe plainness" long enough. It may be "classic," and it may be artistic, but it is desperately ugly. Let's have a change and show our colors. —Mary A. Livermore.

Women Always the Same.

One would imagine from some things that we read and hear that the Creator gave to 1824 one sort of woman and to 1894 another sort. But there is no evidence that he made the one different from the other. New types have come up as picturesque as the old ones.

Number is few. But womanhood is precisely the same today as it was in the time of Eve, different only in minor respects, but exactly the same in the best qualities that indelibly proclaim the true woman. She has broadened intellectually. True, but so has man, and we never hear of the modern man as being a creature radically different from his predecessor by a century's length, and yet he has changed just as much. —Ladies' Home Journal.

Mrs. L. M. Woosley.

Mrs. L. M. Woosley of Caneyville, Ky., the only ordained woman preacher of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, has just closed a meeting at Dexter, Mo., which resulted in 50 conversions and a great religious awakening.

Miss Carrie Lee Carter, a young woman who is an "elder" in the same church, writes of Mrs. Woosley, "Her sermons are powerful and convincing, and her presence and work have been highly educative of sentiment for woman's equality in church and state."

Bride Elect of the Future Czar.

Princess Alix is clever and accomplished, and she has hitherto inherited her mother's sweetness of disposition and her fine character for some years. Princess Alix could have married the late Duke of Clarence, but she refused his proposals more than once, and she is said to have vowed that she will only make a love match. She is very busy studying Russian. —Westminster Gazette.

EMIN PASHA'S DAUGHTER.

She is Half Abyssinian and Lives in Berlin.

Emin Pasha's sister, Fraulein Melanie Schnitzer, who lives in Berlin, is the guardian of the great explorer's little 8-year-old daughter.

Ferida Lafaran, as the courts have decided the child must be called, was born Nov. 26, 1888.

Her mother, the second wife of Emin Pasha, was an Abyssinian woman of the name of Lafaran.

The mother died in 1889, and the 3-year-old child was taken to Baganoyo by her father and left there while he went on another expedition into the interior of the dark continent.

Later the child became the charge of Fraulein Schnitzer, who not long since went with her to settle down in Berlin for the benefit of superior medical attendance and better educational advantages.

Ferida has a delicate constitution, which it is hoped to make more robust by careful and judicious treatment, and if her health and life are spared she will be an illustrious example of the triumphs of German pedagogy.

Her philological talents have already been developed to such a degree that she can speak French, Italian and German, besides Arabic and Kishaneh, her mother tongue.

Ferida is an extraordinarily intelligent and amiable child. Her face, surrounded by a profusion of raven black hair, is expressive of great mildness of disposition and sweetness of temper. It is a curious fact that she takes no delight in the romps and games of her playmates, nor does she care much for the numerous dolls and playthings with which she is constantly being presented.

Her pleasantest hours are those spent in the classroom. She has invincible antipathy for meat and potatoes, but is very fond of eggs, milk and farinaceous foods.

STAGE GLINTS.

Emily Lytton has declined the leading position with J. K. Emmet.

Adelaide Randall, a well known singer, has been engaged for the summer season of opera at the Edgewood Avenue theater, Atlanta.

Frank Dumont next season will be represented on the stage by "The Rainmakers," "About Gotham," "Lost in Egypt" and "Africa."

The New Orleans States says there is a great possibility of a new theater being built in that city to be devoted to French drama and vaudeville.

John Slavacek of New York has written a comedy in three acts entitled "Under Woman's Rule," and is engaged on a spectacular legend in three acts.

A brand new operetta by Jakabowsky, composer of "Erniede," has been produced in Vienna, and according to cablegrams it is a stupendous success.

Thomas Q. Seabrooke was recently offered $1,000 per week to originate the part of the Country Postmaster in Jerome Eddy's new play of that name, but declined.

Lily Adams, a daughter of George H. Adams, who, with her sister Tonina, dances in vaudeville entertainments, was accidentally shot at Hazleton, Pa., recently.

Richard Anderson has signed a five years' contract to appear under the management of Chester and Livingstone in a legitimate repertory, a feature of which will be "Hamlet."

Agnes Herndon, who recently gave a portion of her receipts to the Milwaukee Firemen's Relief association, has been made an honorary member of the fire department of that city.

Values Have Changed.

A mill owner at Saugerties, N. Y., between 65 and 70 years ago paid his mill girls $2 a week, and the girls found board and lodging at $1 a week.

Doctors Should Be Sober.

The Arkansas state board of health has been given power to revoke the license of any physician who is guilty of habitual drunkenness.

Miss Emma Ghent Curtis, editor of The Canon newspaper, has been appointed a commissioner for a boys' industrial school at Golden, Colo.

Two Clergymen's Opinions.

"Precedent and principle now unite in support of municipal suffrage for women," recently wrote Rev. Joseph Cook. In an article in a London magazine on the Women's Trades Union league, the Rev. Stopford A. Brooke, M. A., says: Women must win their right to sit in all municipal councils and in the county council, from which it is a disgrace—nay, more, a stupid folly—that they are excluded. Moreover, and indeed for this cause, and for the advantage of the whole state as well as for that of civilization, women should have the suffrage.

Wore Lace 300 Years Old.

It is not often that a woman is able to array herself in a fabric which 300 years ago was the property of a queen of England. The Countess of Pembroke had this privilege at the recent drawing room, when her white and silver gown and light peach velvet train were trimmed with old point de Flandre which had once been worn by Queen Elizabeth.

It was in admirable preservation, and consisted of deep flounces partly of floral designs, and also displaying a terrace walk with birds on pedestals, quaint and curious. —London Correspondent.

Women Voters After the Offices Now.

A deputation of women waited today upon the Hon. R. J. Seddon, the premier, at Gisborne, to urge upon him the right of women to be eligible as members of parliament. The premier, in reply, said that the request was the logical outcome of the recent extension of the parliamentary suffrage to women, but observed that their political education was necessary first. —Wellington (N. B.) Letter.

Chicago Jewish Women.

The Chicago branch of the national council of Jewish women contemplates establishing a social settlement in each of the three divisions of the city which will resemble in object and character the Hull House. These settlements will at first be conducted on a small scale, but it is hoped that they will one day become a great source of good, as is the Hull House. —Chicago Dispatch.

President Harper says that he entered upon his duties at Chicago university opposed to coeducation, having great misgivings because of the presence of the girls. He now declares that the young women's department of the university is the only one that never gave him any trouble.

It is becoming "the thing" for wealthy Americans to introduce their daughters in London before bringing them out in America, and a presentation at court is now considered to be almost necessary for any one who desires to be truly fashionable.

The French court has decided that a wife's dot, or marriage portion, is the property of her husband. The decision will certainly arouse strong agitation for the passage of the married woman's property act.

Australia is sending another gifted singer to England. She is Miss Ada Crossley, a native of Gippsland, Victoria. She is young, vigorous in physique, and has a magnificent contralto voice.

She Was There.

Gertrude—Heard that Mr. Brush paid me a very nice compliment today.

Carrie—Yes? What was it?

Gertrude—Why, he said that among the most beautiful young ladies at the dance was Miss Gertrude Crandall.

Carrie (cuttingly)—Yes, I noticed you among them. —Brooklyn Life.
